

POLO

BEAGLE

TOURS

*Polo is a horseback mounted team sport.
It is one of the world's oldest known team
sports.

Often referred to as “The Sport of Kings” because of the long, regal legacy it claims, polo is a team sport played on horseback, where a plastic ball is hit by a team of horse riders with long, wooden mallets

A collection of historical artifacts is displayed against a warm, wooden background. On the left, a light-colored strap with a dark geometric pattern runs vertically. Next to it are several dark brown leather straps, some with metal buckles and rings. A large, dark metal disc is prominent in the upper center. The background consists of horizontal wooden planks, with some items resting on a rough, textured surface on the left.
